

table of contents

On the Cover

Day lilies at the teaching and research arboretum on the South Farm. (Photographs by Greg Word)

4 Grazing Merry-Go-Round Improves Efficiency

Livestock producers are using rotational grazing to get the highest efficiency from their pastures.

6 Producer Input Helps Focus Poultry Programs

A poultry grower advisory committee provides direction for research and education programs.

8 Students Assume Foal-Watching Duties

Students assist the MAFES equine program by caring for mares.

10 Mississippi's Rural Past in Safe Hands at MSU Library

The story of Mississippi's rural heritage is being woven together by the CHARM project.

12 Soil Scientists Conducting Nitty-Gritty Research

High-tech resources are helping soil scientists discover exactly what's in soil.

14. Annual Producer Meetings Focus on Needs

Annual producer advisory meetings are opportunities to determine research and education needs.

16 Good Health May Be CATCHing in Mississippi

An innovative program is using a spectrum of university resources to help children develop good health habits.

19 Turf Grass Researchers Tackle Cemetery Maintenance

The North Farm is home to a "tombstone" research plot.

20 In Brief

A quick look at research and events at the Experiment Station.

22 Updates

Meet new and award-winning MAFES personnel.